Ann Bullard

Our ASHA Member Of The Day was born with the love of horses. She rode as a child at Audubon Stables in New Orleans with Kit and Nona Rutland. She passed on the love of American Saddlebreds to her daughters Margo, Mary Beth and May. Together they had horses with Zelpha Corkern in the 1970s, and she loved riding and showing along with her girls.

She worked in the advertising and journalism world her entire life. She was thrilled to be able to combine her love for horses and her love of writing into a career at Dabora, Inc. She served as the Editor of Horse World magazine, and was a long-time correspondent for Saddle Horse Report. Even after she “retired” to Texas to be near her grandchildren, she continued to write freelance stories about the people, the horses, and the places she loved so much.

She has always loved this business and the horses, but most especially she loved the people she’s spent so many years writing about. When health challenges necessitated a move to Virginia to live with her son, her spirits were buoyed by these people who have reached out to her with cards, letters, and phone calls.

Our honoree’s three daughters - May, Margo and Mary Beth – are active with horses in their adult lives. She is especially grateful to her children for bringing her to Louisville this year to have one more chance to experience her friends, her horses, and her passion. She looks forward to seeing friends at the show tonight, and to celebrating after the show back at the stalls of Vantage Point Farm where a reception will be held.
