The Kentucky Horse Park

Set on more than 1,200 rolling acres in the heart of Kentucky's famous Bluegrass Region, the Kentucky Horse Park features dozens of different breeds of horses at work and at play.

The park presents horses in entertaining activities and equine presentations according to the season, including the Breeds Barn and Hall of Champions shows, a Draft Horse Presentation, horse-drawn trolley rides pulled by Draft horses, horseback riding and pony rides, horse farm tours to area farms and more.

The International Museum of the Horse, a Smithsonian Affiliate, is dedicated to all breeds of horses and covers more than 50 million years of equine history. The museum includes a permanent collection of the many Thoroughbred racing trophies won by the famous Calumet Farm and is home to 5 out of the 11 still-existing Thoroughbred Triple Crown trophies.

The park is also home to the American Saddlebred Horse Association office and the American Saddlebred Museum & Gift Shop, The Showplace for Saddlebreds, which honors and chronicles the history of Kentucky's first native breed of horse. The museum presents a yearlong exhibition entitled Trainers'Treasures: Gifts from Saddlebred Professionals through December 2016, which consists of items that have been donated to the American Saddlebred Museum over the past 50 years by professional horsemen and women from within the Saddlebred industry.

The Kentucky Horse Park is the home of the National Horse Center, a collection of more than 30 national, state and regional equine organizations headquartered on the grounds. This elite professional equestrian collection truly help to fulfill the Bluegrass region's status as the "Horse Capital of the World."

The Kentucky Horse Park's preeminent collection of competition facilities allows the park to host some of the world's most prestigious equine sporting events. Home to the Rolex Kentucky Three-Day Event, where Olympic hopefuls compete, the park hosts approximately 200 horse shows and special events annually, most included in park admission.

The Kentucky Horse Park also sports one of America's finest resort campgrounds, set amidst the rolling hills of the Bluegrass, with 260 paved sites, store, swimming pool and many other amenities.

The park is open daily through November 6, 2016, then Wed. through Sunday through mid-March 2017. More information is available at 800/678-8813 or 859/233-4303, and www.kyhorsepark.com.

Nealia McCracken

Our newest ASHA Member Of The Day received her first horse at the age of 3 as her grandfather was the blacksmith at Stephens College in Columbia, Missouri, where she saw her first American Saddlebreds. Alice Thompson and Uncle Dick Cook put our honoree on her first Saddlebred at the Christian College Stables. At the age of 19 she moved to Illinois where she trained her own horses and attended open shows. Boarding horses with Dawn Atlas moved her to become a trainer, eventually buying Dawn's barn. In her last few years as an amateur she would stable with Dick Obenauf who became her mentor.

During her Illinois years she developed another interest and that was doing what she could to promote the breed. She took horses to ASHA's Centennial Celebration, attended Symphonies at the American Royal, volunteered at the Equitana expos in Louisville, manned the petting booth and put on demonstrations for the public. She was also one of the first to volunteer to bring a trailer full of horses to the first World Cup Equitation Finals here in Louisville.

Her North Wind Stables was re-established on the east coast following her husband's transfer to New York City. In late 2005, our honoree began taking her one day off to attend horse auctions in eastern Pennsylvania and teaming up with Pat Johnson and Christy Parker, established Saddlebred Rescue, Inc., a nonprofit organization which rescues and places horses back into the system, mostly as lesson horses and companion animals. Her children, stepchildren and many friends have been involved in this wonderful endeavor.

For the past several years she has volunteered to run the meet and greet program here at the World's Championship Horse Show. Thousands of visitors to the Kentucky State Fair have had the opportunity to touch an American Saddlebred and learn about the breed and all we do.
